Konference

For 3 days, a congress-conference was held in Rēzekne, Latvia, which was intended as an activity to which prominent experts in the field of UDL were invited and at the same time young researchers who offered the opportunity to present their research in this field.

Throughout the 3-day congress-conference in Rēzekne, which was rich with invited speakers, panel sessions, oral and poster conference sessions, meals, refreshments and social programs, both researchers and teachers, as well as local and national experts, all came to share their knowledge .

The responsible institution for this activity in ME3 was the Rēzekne City Education Board. The Education Board of the city of Rēzekne, in accordance with its general project goals, plans to distribute the results obtained at the conference and the Intellectual results to its target groups, "internal experts" and professionals in the field.

This event was related to the first meeting of the project and marked the launch of the project. The purpose of the event was not only to popularize the project, but also to cooperate with Latvian and international key stakeholders and experts, but also to discuss it and provide feedback and input on achieving future project results.

This event marked a milestone in the project where certain project outputs and impacts were evaluated and presented, namely: - Output 1. Engage Vet Module - Output 2. Engage Practice Book.

The second objective of the multiplier event was - to share the intellectual results of UDL4U with a wider audience locally in Rēzekne - to involve local decision-makers in the field of education and the network of interested parties in Rēzekne - to share the intellectual results of the project in Rēzekne - to explore new forms of cooperation between the project participants - to develop a cooperation plan for furthering the project results for use.

The main concern of the conference is UDL's understanding of participation and interest, the importance of teacher education in inclusive education, the implementation of the book - practical inclusive education module (IO1) and practice book (IO2), which are the important idea results of the UDL4U project. And also the workshops that were created out of the content of the program. Prominent UDL professionals were invited as lecturers at the conference, they also led panel sessions on the implementation of the UDL4U project and shared their experience on research results.
